Sean Boushie claims he missed and shot the car next to me today on the Interstate near Billings Montana.

I just received this email from Sean Boushie, the Missoula guy who has threatened to kill me:

"Here kitty kitty kitty.. Come on big fat kitty kitty... Come to mamma, you fat lying, asshole. Too bad I missed and hit that other car huh, I didn't know it would explode like that... By Coward."

As I was driving down Interstate-90 in Montana today, a car in the lane to my right burst into flames and smoke filled the road.

I slowed up as did a car just ahead of me and undoubtedly everyone behind us. When the smoke cleared, I didn't see any flames, but the driver had pulled his car off onto the side of the road, and the car ahead of me pulled over as well.

I didn't stop to ask if they had been shot. I figured it was just a blown engine, but who knows?

Then Sean Boushie emails me to take credit for it. Who am I to doubt him. I will get this to the authorities first thing in the morning.
